JUDGE WICK .- It will be seen that the County Committee of Marion yesterday recommended Hon, W. W. Wick as the Democratic candidate for Judge of the Common Pleas Court for this zens and one of the most eminent jurists of the State. The duties of the office will be familiar with him, and his eminent legal abilities and sound judgment will give dignity to the position that his friends seek for him. The business of the court in the district is large and increasing in importance, and it is fitting that our ablest lawyers should be selected to preside over it. The nomination was unsought by the Judge, and we have no doubt of his election.

The condition of Pennsylvania street from Washington to market is such as to demand the attention of our city fathers, and if they have any city pride they will devise some means to work done, and a majority on the street as far north as North street desire it. On the second square, however, there is some opposition, and only-some to improve two squares, and some only one. It requires a two-thirds vote to put an ordinance through at one meeting, and also to make an ordnance constitutional, unless a ma jority of property owners petition for it. Thus all propositions are defeated, and the prospect now is that one of the finest squares in the city will re-main a glorious mud hole all winter.

THE GROCERY TRADE .- We notice the wholesale grecery business is rapidly increasing in this city. On looking through the establishment of Messrs. -The Washington correspondent of the Traveller, describing the passage of the veteran troops through the city, says-"They were in heavy marching order. Every man carried his full knapsack, bis full (more or less, as the case may be) haversack, stuffed with boiled beef and ammunition bread; his full cartridge box, containing forty rounds; his full canteen of water, and all the little contractions mysterious to the uninitiated, but full of meaning to those who know the old campaigners-such as a pint tin pail, blackened by fire, odd straps, short sticks, and a roll of black cloth-which suggest small camp kettles and the tents d'abries. Beside these, each man carried his blanket also; and every man, of course, carried his musket or rifle. These together could not weigh less than seventy five pounds. They were 'stepping out lively,' for they were then on a forced march. The moonlight lit up the streets, and gave an additional glow to the bronze faces it almost glorified.
